Refrigerators

Construction—So much of the health of yourself and family depends upon the purity of your refrigerator. This can only be obtained when your refrigerator is perfectly constructed and well taken care of.

These refrigerators have eight distinct cold-retaining walls on each side, and they are constructed as follows: The outer wall is made of kiln dried Wisconsin ash, and nicely finished; next beneath this is a layer of specially prepared refrigerator insulation, then a "dead" air-space, then another layer of insulation, then a layer of mineral wool, then another lining of insulation, a solid wall of matched lumber, and finally an air-tight zinc lining.

Guarantee—This construction is so perfect that we guarantee every refrigerator sold to be absolutely satisfactory or we will gladly refund the money. That insures you against substitution. Our refrigerators must "make good" or you can return them. We know one of them will save more in the ice it keeps from wasting in a single season than its entire cost.
